

YOUNG MAN DROWNED

CONOWAGO CLAIMS FOURTH VICTIM IN PAST SIX YEARS.

Chas. Stambaugh Overcome While Swimming—Mrs. Hollinger Dies Suddenly While on Visit Here.

The fourth fatal drowning accident to occur within the last six years in the Big Conowago Creek, near Dick's Dam, took place Sunday afternoon, when Clark Stambaugh, 20 years old, was drowned in about six feet of water, while hundreds of persons looked on.

The boy jumped off the iron bridge and swam downstream, where he became exhausted and shouted for help. A 14-year-old Hanover boy went to Stambaugh's aid, but he was so light that the drowning boy's weight pulled him under. No one came to the youngster's aid at the moment, and, becoming exhausted himself, he swam to the bank with difficulty.

Hearing the cries for help, two other Hanover boys who were in a boat some distance up stream, pulled to the spot and dived for the body, which they recovered in ten minutes. They at once made efforts to revive the boy, working until the arrival of Dr. George H. Seaks, of New Oxford, who continued to work. A pulmotor of the Hanover Fire Co. was rushed to the creek by Ira Plank, of Gettysburg, in 18 minutes, but life was extinct.

Clark Stambaugh was the son of William Stambaugh, of York, and Mrs. Edward Richter, of Hanover. For the past two years he had been boarding at the residence of C. C. Weigle, Chambersburg street, Gettysburg. He was raised in the family of G. W. Irvin, Highland township, where he went to live when four years of age. He was a member of the Sons and Daughters of Liberty and of the Red Men. Besides his parents, one sister, Mrs. Henry Hoff, of Bittingers, also survive. Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams county coroner, was called and decided death was due to accidental drowning. No inquest was held. Funeral was on Tuesday afternoon in the Methodist Episcopal Church, of Gettysburg, services by Dr. T. C. Billheimer, and interment in Montrose Cemetery, York.

The Hanover Record-Herald comments: "This fatal accident again shows the pressing need for a pulmotor along the creek. Members of permanent camps as well as transient campers and picnickers could soon raise a fund for the purchase of such a machine, which could be kept at a readily accessible spot. The cost of such an apparatus would be as nothing compared to the value of a life that might be saved through its use. If kept along the creek a motor run from any of the camps at the extreme point up or down stream could be made in a few minutes."

Mrs. Annie Hollinger died on Thursday of last week at the home of her sister, Mrs. Andrew Utz, on East Middle street. Failing to get a response from the room of Mrs. Hollinger, Thursday morning about 7 o'clock, Andrew Utz, her brother-in-law, effected an entrance into the room and found her dead. Heart trouble was announced as the cause of death of Mrs. Hollinger who was 68 years old. Mrs. Hollinger, whose maiden name was Miss Annie Wampler, lived in Gettysburg many years ago. A few days ago she came here from her home in Lancaster to visit her sister, Mrs. Utz. Wednesday night she seemed about as well as usual when she retired for the night, locking the door of her room from the inside. When Mr. Utz failed to arouse her for breakfast he procured a step-ladder and climbed from the outside into the room where he found the body of his sister-in-law partly on the bed and partly on the floor. Evidently she was stricken with a heart attack while in the act of rising. The body was sent to her home in Lancaster where interment was made.

Mrs. Alphretta Wiest, wife of John Wiest, died at her home on Baltimore street Sunday afternoon after a lingering illness in her 74th year. The reverend gentleman served as pastor of the Reformed church at Silver Run, either as a charge by itself or as part of a charge, from 1876 to 1894. It was during his pastorate and under his leadership that the handsome new Reformed church there was built. The influence of his sterling character and faithful and exemplary teaching is felt in that community unto this day.

Funeral was on Friday with services at the Presbyterian Church at McConnellsburg.

John M. Raffensperger, a prominent retired farmer, died suddenly at his home in Dillsburg last Sunday while he was preparing to go to church. He was aged about 70 years. Mr. and Mrs. Raffensperger were upstairs dressing for church when he suddenly complained of being ill and lay across the bed. His wife hurriedly summoned a physician but the stricken man died soon after the doctor's arrival. He was a former resident of Baltimore township, where he followed the occupation of farming for many years. He leaves besides his wife, a son, Willis Raffensperger, of Dillsburg, and a daughter, Mrs. L. E. Speck, of Wellsville. A sister, Mrs. Abram Myers, of Dillsburg, also survives.

Mrs. Laura Weaver, wife of Harry Weaver, of Highland township, near Knoxlyn, died Tuesday evening in the Warner Hospital. Last Friday an operation was attempted to save her life but it was found nothing could be done. Her age was 59 years, 2 months and 10 days. Before her marriage she was Miss Laura Pfoutz, daughter of the late C. L. Pfoutz. She was a life long member of the Church of the Brethren and lived both before and after her marriage on the Pfoutz farm where she was born. She leaves besides her husband three sons, Lahman Weaver and Clinton Weaver, of Highland township; Rufus Weaver, of Gettysburg; four sisters, Mrs. Daniel Deardorff and Mrs. C. D. Lambert, of Surrey, North Dakota; Mrs. N. J. Miller, of Knoxlyn; and Mrs. B. F. Lightner, of Gettysburg. Funeral services were held Friday afternoon in Marsh Creek Church of the Brethren by Elder C. L. Baker, of East Berlin, and Elder J. H. Brindle, of Gettysburg, with interment in the adjoining cemetery.

Mrs. Hannah J. Steiner, widow of William H. Steiner, died at her home on Mummaburg street Thursday of last week after a few days' illness of congestion of the lungs, aged 81 years, 4 months and 6 days. She is survived by the following sons and daughters: Mrs. Minnie Ennis, of Allentown; Mrs. Mary Kriner, of Baltimore; Emory Steiner, John Steiner and George W. Steiner, all of Gettysburg.

William H. Beagle died on Wednesday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John Mumper, in his 68th year. He was a native of Bedford county and for a number of years a leading merchant of Everett. About a year ago he became interested with his son-in-law John Mumper, in the opening of a store on Baltimore street, and with his wife lived with Mr. Mumper on Springs avenue. Late in the year he purchased the store at Two Taverns and in the early spring took possession and suffering from a renewed attack of diabetes he disposed of the store a few weeks ago and moved back to his daughter's home. He had been a justice of the peace at Rainesburg, Bedford county, and was an ardent Democrat. The funeral will be held on Saturday morning, services by Dr. A. E. Wagner and interment in Evergreen Cemetery. He leaves besides his wife, one daughter, Mrs. John Mumper, of this place, and two sisters, Mrs. H. H. ## MUSEUM OPENING DELAYED

MR. JOHNSTON POSTPONES OPENING OF WADE MUSEUM.

Ill Health Prevents Mrs. Georgia Wade McClellan from Attending Opening Celebration Now.

For some weeks past, letters have been received by J. W. Johnston, of Rochester, N. Y., from Georgia Wade McClellan, of Carroll, Ia., informing him that she was not in good health; and in doubt if she would be able to come to Gettysburg, this spring, to be present at the opening and dedication ceremonies incidental to the Mary Virginia Wade Memorial Museum, for which Mr. Johnston has been gathering authentic relics, for some years past.

A letter was recently received at Rochester, N. Y., from Georgia Wade McClellan, stating that her health was such that she felt it necessary to go to California this spring to visit a daughter there; rather than to journey to Gettysburg, Pa., until her strength has been renewed.

This decision on Mrs. McClellan's part has caused Mr. Johnston to re-rent the Baltimore street birthplace of Mary Virginia Wade, which was vacated on April 1 last.

Mr. Johnston has decided to await development with respect to the physical condition of Mrs. Georgia Wade McClellan, hoping that she will be able in May, 1922, to visit Gettysburg on her sister's birthday to see improvements; which were expected to take place this spring, but which have been held up pending Mrs. McClellan's decision with respect to her proposed Gettysburg visit.

Mr. Johnston is determined to improve the Baltimore street property restoring it to its original architectural aspect; and transforming the old time building in the rear, originally a Colonial day tavern, into a very charming and attractive refreshment stop for the convenience of tourists. However, the unexpected decline in Mrs. McClellan's health has necessitated the postponement of these improvements for another year.

In the meantime, Mr. Johnston will continue his researches pertaining to the life of Mary Virginia Wade, and his search for genuine and authentic relics of all kinds pertaining to the girl herself, or the girl's family history during her life time.

Information of any kind whatsoever pertaining to Mary Virginia Wade may be submitted to J. Louis Sowers, Mr. Johnston's Gettysburg representative on historical research studies.

When the committee offered to pay for the same Mr. Brown gave them a surprise by stating that he would present the chain free of charge.

RED CROSS HELPS CHILDREN

WORK OF GREAT SURGEON SHOWING RESULTS.

How the Future Has Been Brightened for a Number of Children Who Will Now be Able to Walk.

The Adams County Red Cross Home Service has been devoting a portion of its energies to a labor which has necessarily moved slowly, and is just now beginning to show results. It is proving an inspiration to all connected with the service and is being esteemed as a most worthwhile accomplishment by all who have been giving the Red Cross their support.

It is the work of saving the children in the county who have been the victims of that dread scourge—meningitis—from being life long cripples. These little ones have torn the heart-strings of not only their parents, but every one interested in childhood. To see their little bodies growing while limbs remained pitifully small has been a most pathetic daily sight. These children have been going to school in carts and wagons, receiving unusual kindnesses from companions and teachers. For a long time the impression has prevailed that the children could not be helped, that they were doomed for life, but medical science is proving that such is not the case and the Red Cross has been sowing seeds of helpfulness that opens a new day and future for these unfortunate young people.

The assurance that these children can be helped and in many cases cured is no longer an experiment, but has become an established fact backed by such famous experts as Dr. Rugh, the world known surgeon of Philadelphia, and Mr. Gevert, the foremost brace maker in the country for children suffering with infantile paralysis. Dr. Rugh has been treating and operating upon a number of the little sufferers from this county, and Mr. Gevert has been furnishing the braces which are proving so helpful to them. The good results are beginning to appear.

First, Harold Rinehart, of Gettysburg, a little boy who never walked, but has been undergoing operations and treatment since last fall, is now able to walk. He must learn just like a year old baby, for he has never known what it was to walk. At first he had to have the help of a hand, but can now travel about in the house without help and he will soon be going about and to school and playing just like other children.

Little Margaret Hankey can be seen almost daily, going about on crutches, her face beaming with delight, learning to walk and it is expected that in a short time she will be able to throw the helping crutches away and go like other children. For years the only method of locomotion for this little girl was in her wagon. Is it any wonder that she is happy over her new experiences and what it means to her and her future. Martha McMillan had only been able to get about on crutches and this with difficulty for years, since she suffered from the attack of infantile paralysis when a very small child. She has been through a series of operations and already she is having the use of a limb never before used and it is said that she will soon be walking without the help of crutches. She has been patiently enduring her treatment, happy with the thought of the benefits that are coming.

Don Bream has been confined to his wagon as a means of getting about having suffered meningitis when only six months old. He has been to the city more than once, undergoing operations and is nearly ready for his lessons of walking with the help of crutches.

Arthur Gordon has just been taken to Philadelphia for his operation and treatment and looks forward to the time when he can walk. His sister, Martha Gordon, has been in the city since Christmas receiving treatment which is doing her much good.

The work of the Red Cross has not only been a wonderful work but has been inexpensive. Knowledge of the benefits to be given children who have suffered with infantile paralysis must be brought home to parents. Often parents have become hopeless, they have not heard or known of such children being helped, they are incredulous. These little sufferers have become very dear and the parents are filled with imagined fears. The Red Cross patiently urges and when chance is reached makes arrangements on the best terms. When desired they can become ward patients at the smallest expense, or be treated at the free clinics. Every advantage has been sought for these children and Miss McMillan, the Red Cross Secretary, has accompanied the little ones to the city to see that they receive what has been promised.

There are over twenty of these little ones listed by the Red Cross in the county and the experts have given their opinion that a number can be helped. It is unthinkable that parents for any reason or excuse would continue a child in a helpless condition when the greatest expert says they can be helped. The parents should inform themselves of the wonderful results children have already received and then determine that their own children shall receive the same benefits. No parent can be comfortable with thoughts about the future of their children so marred, but the opportunity to change all this is a wonderful one, for they can be placed where they will be able to take care of themselves. Let us hope the work of the Red Cross will be so successful that all the children who can be so helped will receive the treatment.

Horrible Auto Accident.

Mrs. Harvey M. Ruth, of Hanover, and Aaron Ruppert, of near Davidsburg, are dead as the result of an accident when a Hupmobile owned and driven by the latter, accidentally backed over a 60 foot embankment at McCall's Ferry last Sunday afternoon. The machine which contained a party of seven persons, landed on the stony bottom of the fishway in the Susquehanna River, and besides killing the two mentioned, the following were injured: Mrs. Aaron Ruppert, nee Annie Delap, formerly of Reading township, wounds of the scalp; her 2-year-old son Jack and a 3-year-old daughter Dora, lacerations and bruises. Rita Ruth, aged 3 years, slight injuries.

Timely assistance no doubt saved several from drowning. The auto was crushed to kindling and junk. Persons who witnessed the accident declare it was one of the most dreadful sights they ever witnessed and that the shrieks and groans were heartrending. Mr. Ruth was not in the machine as he had decided to wait until it was turned around. It is believed the driver became confused and in turning put his foot on the wrong pedal.

The Ruth family went to the Ruppert home Saturday evening, the family being cousins, and Sunday morning they left for the Ferry to spend the day.

The body of Mrs. Ruth was removed to her home in Hanover. The unfortunate woman was aged 32 years, 9 months and 11 days and is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Israel Simpson, of Hanover, formerly of East Berlin; her husband and three children, Mervin H. Dorothy 8, and Rita aged 3. Aaron Ruppert was in his 38th year and besides his wife is survived by five children. The funeral of Mrs. Ruth was on Wednesday and of Mr. Ruppert on Thursday.

McLaughlin—Zook.—Spencer McLaughlin and Miss Elva Zook, of Carlisle, formerly of New Chester, this county, were married at Hagerstown on June 13 by the Rev. Russell Gaar. The groom is also from Carlisle. The 13th was a lucky day for the couple. Although in a strange city and without friends a big wedding was staged for them and they received a substantial present. According to a Hagerstown paper, the elopers arrived there Monday evening and got lost. At 10:30 they were still lost. Then a friendly man, a prominent citizen of Hagerstown, came along and asked if they were in trouble. They said they were. They were also in love. "We are looking for a lawyer," volunteered the doughty bridegroom—"to be when he could find his voice." "You don't need a lawyer. You need a minister," the man explained. "Come along and I'll see that you are married." So he steered the elopers to the Conchoque Club, where arrangements were made for the ceremony. To set at rest the mind of Mr. McLaughlin, who seemed to want the advice and support of an attorney-at-law in his undertaking, a Hagerstown attorney was called as counsel and he directed them to the clerk's office. After rousing the clerk out of bed, a license was obtained. The ceremony took place in the dining room of the club. The room was decorated for the occasion with a row of well dressed club members. The bride wore a pink hat over her blonde bobbed hair, and tan coat. It was a hot night, but Elva Rose was cool and collected. So was the bridegroom. After the ceremony the bride and groom passed down the long line of witnesses who wished them luck and happiness. The members of the club then presented the bride with a substantial sum of money as a wedding present. As the grocery stores were closed there was no rice thrown as the young couple departed but a box of canary seeds was found and the newlyweds left the building in a shower of bird food. The bride is 18 years old and Mr. McLaughlin 21. The bride said she had told her mother she was going to clope.

Chinese Famine Ends.

The American Committee for China Famine Fund, Thomas W. Lamont chairman, has announced that a cablegram has been received from Peking from the American Minister to the effect that the recent generous contributions by the Chinese people in excess of estimates, together with the fact that abundant rains have insured harvests where none was thought possible, have fortunately brought about a radical change in the famine situation. This change means that the pressing needs have now been met. The American Committee feels, therefore, that the task for which it was appointed has been accomplished, and plans for demobilization including the gathering in of monies now in the hands of the local committees will at once begin.

Mr. Lamont, in giving out the statement, said that he felt that the value of the American effort toward relief of the famine in China could hardly be overemphasized, both from the point of view of the relief of millions of starving peoples, and as an expression of the great sympathy of the United States for a sister nation in trouble.

Second Setting of Apple Blossoms.

There have recently been many inquiries of the Pennsylvania Bureau of Plant Industry as to why apple, pear and quince trees which have blossomed and set fruit should later on put out a second set of bloom, which is usually scanty in nature, though these later blossoms may be fertilized and bear good fruit.

The explanation lies in the fact that a terminal or shoot bud was killed by the spring frosts and one of the fruit buds clustered around it was compelled to take its place. These fruit buds would normally grow only enough during the coming summer to prepare them for blossom and fruit bearing in the summer of 1922. But since they have even thus early assumed the definite character of fruit buds, when compelled to change over and produce leafy shoots they cannot do so completely on such short notice. Hence under the stimulus of vegetative growth induced by the attempt to become a leafy twig, the blossoms in these buds, that would otherwise have remained dormant for a year, are forced into development and the leafy shoot bears one or more well developed terminal flowers. It is a curious fact that to the extent to which this second blossom set occurs on a tree, we are getting the crop destined for 1922 in the present season.

$100,000 Breach of Promise Suit.

William E. Duff, prominent York citizen, has been served with papers in a suit for $100,000 damages brought on behalf of Miss Hyacinth May Stringer, formerly of York, now residing in Philadelphia. Services of the papers in the suit followed the arraignment of Mr. Duff on charge of non-support of Hyacinth Stringer, one-year-old daughter of Miss Stringer. The damage suit against the Yorker was filed by the father of the girl as she is a minor. She was employed as a clerk in Duff's office in 1918.

Pen-Mar Excursion Train.

Announcement from the Western Maryland Railway that the Pen-Mar excursion train will be operated again this year, commencing June 26, should be received with delight by the people of this community, as thousands of people in this locality have spent much of their leisure time at this famous mountain park.

The view from the park of the celebrated Cumberland Valley is one of the most grand in this country, and can be seen for miles from Pen-Mar Park.

Spray in Hot, Dry Weather.

Lime sulphur spray applied in dilute form is commonly used for apple scab when the tree is in foliage, and some growers use it also on plums and peaches during the summer, according to the Bureau of Plant Industry, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture. In the case of stone fruits especially but also in apples at times, there is a danger of burning the leaves and considerable damage has been done even with very dilute mixtures.

It is a matter of great practical interest to the fruit grower to note that the burning effect is most pronounced when the spray dries slowly or remains in liquid form for some hours, as in a dewy night. When the spray dries within a few minutes after application burning is not likely to occur.

The reason why safety from burning lies in quick evaporation of the spray seems to be that when the various chemicals in the spray dry they undergo transformations which render them less soluble, so that though the spray as applied will burn the leaf tissue if it remains in liquid form for some time, yet when the transformation attendant on drying has taken place the deposit on the leaves is so insoluble that it does not afterward dissolve enough in rain or dew to cause injury.

Summer spraying with lime sulphur should therefore be carried out in bright, sunny periods and not undertaken in dull, cool weather or near nightfall when there is prospect of dew.

Excitement Among Excursionists.

As a result of a general disagreement between a number of passengers on the excursion that was returning to Baltimore on Monday evening after spending the day in Gettysburg, a little hasty action with fists and a razor caused a good bit of excitement. The argument took place between New Oxford and Hanover when a young colored woman by the name of Gertrude Robbins, who was said to be "bootlegging" in the mix-up James H. Anderson and Joshua Holly, both colored, figured more prominently. Anderson receiving a stab in the back and two black eyes while Holly was badly cut about the head. The conductor telephoned ahead to Hanover and the train was met by a patrol with a fire truck who took charge of the three principal offenders. They were entertained in the lockup until the following morning when their fines were paid and they were released.

PLACES BLAME ON MERCHANT

According to English Visitor, He is Responsible for Extreme Styles Adopted by Women.

The more important question underneath the clothes question is what sort of appeal the new "audacious" styles are intended to make, or do make, says the Boston Transcript. Mrs. Beatrice Forbes-Robertson Hale's entertaining talk on this question starts off by saying frankly: "I do not believe that dress is based on a sex appeal." She thinks it is rather the reflection of a class appeal—the attempt to display wealth.

After democracy had done away with man's lace cuffs, frills, wigs, velvet cloaks and such ostentatious luxury of attire it became bad form for a man to show his class by his clothes, and so he advertises his prosperity by dressing up his wife.

"The modern American wife," says Mrs. Hale, "is nothing short of a shop window for her husband; she shows off his success. I speak of the average human creature, of course, not of the intellectual man." The cause of the inherent snobbishness of overdress comes from aping the thoughts of the old society system of Europe. Our education in dress here in America has come from the merchant who has goods to sell; we don't know where we are today, trying to wear all the styles these merchants are willing to sell us. We do not wear flimsy materials because we are trying to make a sex appeal, but because it is to the interest of the merchant to sell us something perishable."

What terrible creatures these women are who think and know how to speak! The mistake was in letting them learn the alphabet!

NEVER LET GO OF SUITCASE

Former Congressman, on Visit to France, Proved Himself Superior to Adverse Circumstances.

Dudley Doolittle, who used to be in congress from Kansas, recently returned from Europe, where he went on a secret mission for the United States government.

While in France, Mr. Doolittle had the unusual experience of roaming around several hundreds of battlefields with a seventy-six-pound suitcase clasped firmly in his arms. Shortly after Doolittle landed in Paris, and just before he started for the battlefields, the handle broke off his suitcase, which contained a number of valuable documents and papers which were almost as heavy as hardware samples. There was no porter around to help Doolittle into his automobile, nor was there any around during the ensuing ten days of his trip. Therefore, there was nothing for him to do but to clasp the suitcase firmly to his chest and get the best view of the battlefields that he could from behind the obstruction.

Doolittle says that he got so used to viewing war scenes from behind the suitcase that in order to enjoy movies of the war now he has to take a miniature doghouse to the motion picture theaters with him and hold it on his lap throughout the performance.

South America going to send llamas to this country for work and pleasure purposes

"One result of our great war-made relations with South America is going to be that we will enjoy South American products more and more. If they buy from us we will have to trade it out. So, we understand, arrangements are being made to ship a number of the South American llamas to the United States for pleasure and other purposes.

You have seen llamas in circuses but as curiosities. They are first class beasts of burden. You can load them up with packs or harness them to wagons and buggies. The llama is fairly docile and certainly would be a curiosity attached to an American buggy or pony cart. They have long wool-like coats and intelligent attractive heads.

Montaigne Had Idea of "Tanks."

While the court of inquiry is so busily engaged in weighing the various claims to original authorship of tanks, and while discussion on the subject is going on in sundry capitals, a French writer, brushing aside Wells and his "Anticipations," points to one of the fathers of literature, Michel de Montaigne, as the man to whom medals and kudos are really due. There is a prognostication in one of the Essays of the entry of combatants into battle inclosed in bastions "just like those which the ancients caused their elephants to carry." There is the germ of the tank invention right enough, but that it should have taken so long to germinate may not inconceivably be regarded as invalidating Montaigne's claims to the Croix de Guerre.

Needed Coaching.

Volumes have been written about the poor English of high school pupils, but an eighth grade teacher believes that another chapter should be added to one of the volumes. When she began to plan for a basketball team at her building she asked the high school principal to send her a high school athlete for coach. The principal promised.

A few days later the new coach made his first visit to her building. They talked over plans for the winter's athletics, and then he made ready to leave. "I guess there's nothing more to tell you except to have your cardkeys for the team all lined up by next Wednesday night," he said.—Indianapolis News.

Much Argentine Wool Bought Here.

The United States is Argentina's best customer for wool according to the bureau of markers United States department of agriculture. For the wool season of 1915-16 Argentina exported 152,508 bales to this country, or 51 per cent of Argentina's entire exports of wool. For 1916-17 the United States took 225,467 bales, or 61 per cent. For the 1917-18 season 209,725 bales, or 73 per cent, were shipped to this country.

TRAINING CAMP FOR YOUNG MEN

TO BE OPENED AT CAMP MEADE, MARYLAND, ON AUGUST 1ST.

NO CHARGES WILL BE MADE

Splendid Opportunity For The Youth Of The State To Secure Valuable And Healthy Experience.

A free summer camp, with all expenses included, railroad fare paid, is offered this summer by the government to 1,200 young men between the ages of 16 and 35 who reside in Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia. This Citizens' Military Training Camp will last for thirty days, commencing on August 1st, and will be held at Camp Meade, Maryland, about half way between Baltimore and Washington.

Attendance at the camp will not cost one cent to any of the candidates who are selected to go. They may either pay their railroad fare from their homes to Camp Meade and be reimbursed as soon as they arrive at the rate of five cents for each mile traveled, allowing an ample margin for meals and other expenses en route, or if they prefer they will be furnished with a ticket before they leave home and allowed not to exceed $3.00 a day for their meals while traveling.

Upon arriving at Camp Meade each man will be supplied with a complete set of uniforms and equipment. He will then be assigned to quarters in comfortable permanent barracks. When mess call sounds he will find a well-cooked meal all ready for him paid for by the government and prepared by army cooks who are now going through a special course of training at the Camp Meade Cooks' and Bakers' School to prepare them for duty at the camp. All the mess attendants will be supplied from Regular Army regiments stationed at Camp Meade. Should he have need of it at any time he will find a well-equipped hospital free of charge with competent army surgeons and dentists.

In return for this he will be called upon to devote his mornings to military drills and exercises under the direction of officers specially selected from the Infantry School at Camp Benning, Georgia for duty as instructors, and will be encouraged to spend his afternoons in athletics and games under the supervision of officers specially trained to supervise such activities.

While he will live in permanent barracks, he will frequently take short hikes through the beautiful rolling and wooded country of Southern Maryland, carrying the infantry soldier's field equipment and ending the march by going into camp and spending the night under canvas if the weather is good. Some of his meals in the field he will cook for himself in his "mess kit" and others will be served to him from rolling kitchens.

The military part of the day's program will include demonstrations of all the modern military weapons, such as Tanks, Artillery, machine guns and trench mortars by veteran regular troops stationed at Camp Meade, as well as the actual drills in which the candidates will take part. It is hoped that they will become sufficiently interested to affiliate with the National Guard or Organized Reserve when they return to their homes, thus fitting themselves to be leaders instead of followers if they should ever be called upon to serve their country in case of another war, but attendance at the camp involves absolutely no obligation, moral or legal, to perform any further military service.

Off duty hours will be well provided for, and candidates will be encouraged to spend all their time in camp by providing them with amusements so that they will not want to leave it. There will be movies and other forms of entertainment every evening and frequent concerts by some of the fine Regular Army bands stationed at Camp Meade. The religious atmosphere will not be neglected. Two chaplains will devote their entire time to the Citizens' Camp and to the management of a service club where candidates will be entertained in their spare time. Other chaplains of six different denominations on duty with regular troops of the camp will be available for advice and counsel.

The Military Training Camps Association, composed of graduates of previous similar camps held at Plattsburg, New York, and other places, are in active charge of receipt and forwarding of applications through their nearest local representative. Major Horace B. Hare, 1390 Commercial Trust Building, Philadelphia, but if he cannot be conveniently reached, information and application blanks can be secured and arrangements made to obtain without charge the very simple physical examination by writing to the Commanding General, Third Corps Area, Fort Howard, Maryland.

Applications should be forwarded as early as possible, as the final selection of applicants must be made well in advance of the opening of the camp on August 1st. In case the number of applicants exceeds the capacity of the camp, vacancies will be apportioned by counties in proportion to their population, and the individuals selected by a method which will insure that each locality and each individual applicant has an equal chance.

JUST GOT OVER A COLD?

Look out for kidney troubles and backache. Colds overtax the kidneys and often leave them weak. For weak kidneys—well, read what a Gettysburg woman says:

Mrs. F. M. Gilbert, 26 Breckenridge St., says: "I never had any serious kidney trouble but several years ago my kidneys were out of fix when a cold settled in them. My back was rather weak, which annoyed me and made housework of any kind burdensome. It was right across my kidneys that sharp, darting pains caught me when I stooped over. It only took a little work to tire my back and very often it became lame and sore. My kidneys were not in a very healthy condition and I was not feeling well in any way. I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills through reading so much about them and as my trouble was not of a serious nature, it didn't take many of Doan's Kidney Pills to drive the pains from my back and rid me of all signs of kidney complaint."

COLLEGE'S OLDEST ALUMNUS

REV. WM. FRANKLIN EYSTER
OF CRETE, NEBRASKA.Died on Last Saturday in His 100th
Year, the Oldest College Graduate in the United States.

Word was received here of the death of Rev. William Franklin Eyster on Saturday, June 18, at his home in Crete, Neb. Dr. Eyster, at the age of 99 years, 6 months, was not only the oldest living college graduate in the United States in regard to age but also in regard to years since graduation, this being the eighty-second year since he received his diploma.

Mrs. Stork, of Germantown, who graduated from Moravian Seminary in 1827, was the oldest living graduate until she died about five years ago, and then Mr. Park, a graduate of Indiana State University, held supremacy until his death three years ago. Since that time, on the authority of the World Almanac, Dr. Eyster has been the oldest living graduate.

Although in his one hundredth year, Dr. Eyster made frequent trips to the library at Doane College at Crete and was known as "a regular nine to twelve o'clock visitor." Recently Phrenakosmian Literary Society of Gettysburg College hung a picture of him, as an honorary member of the society, in their meeting room and received an autographed letter from him.

As the only surviving member of his class in college, he was a contributor to the College Endowment Fund Drive, and his class, 1839, was thus the first to go on the Honor Roll as having a subscription from all its members.

Two years ago in a letter written to Dr. Hefelbower, former president of Gettysburg College, Dr. Eyster, said: "During the intervening years between 1881 and 1915 I supplied Lutheran churches at Rocco and Waverly, Neb. Late years have impaired my hearing and advanced age has led me to retire from the active ministry but until quite recently I have been called upon to act as temporary supply for neighboring churches."

"On January 20, last I entered my ninety-eighth year and in company with my youngest son and daughter at our home in Crete I still am richly blessed in enjoyment of comparatively good health."

Synopsis of the Life of William Franklin Eyster as it appears in Dr. Breidenbaugh's College History:

Born January 20, 1822. Parents, Gen. Jacob and Mary Middlecoff. Entered Preparatory 1833; residence, Harrisburg; Phrenakosmian, orator, anniversary 1839. Theological course, Gettysburg; licensed 1841; Teaching and then Pastor, Jefferson, Md., 1841-4; Pastor, Germantown, Penna., 1844-51; Chambersburg, Penna., 1851-58; Principal Female Seminary, Hagerstown, 1858-60; 1868-72; Pastor, Smithsburg, Md., 1860-64; Greencastle, Penna., 1864-68; owing to impaired health, retired from active work, residing at Pleasant Hill, Neb., 1872-5; Professor of English Language and Literature, in Augustana College, Rock Island, Vt., from 1875 to 1881, and then retired to Crete, Neb., where his family lives. Died Saturday, June 18, 1921.

Fruit Outlook.

Information gathered by the Bureau of Statistics, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, on June 1, shows that this state will have, from present indications, approximately 26 per cent of a normal crop of apples, or 5,176,000 bushels, compared with 20,825,000 last year and 14-500,000 the average for the past five years. The commercial apple crop is estimated at 517,000 barrels.

Peaches approximate 18 per cent of a normal which is indicative of a crop of 369,500 bushels, compared with 1,621,000 bushels last year. The prospect for pears is placed at 22 per cent which indicates a crop of 158,000 bushels as compared with 607,000 bushels last year.

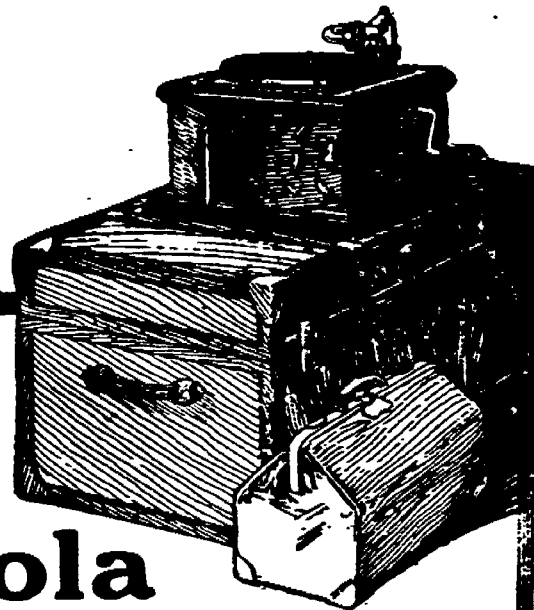

The condition of plums indicates 17 per cent of a normal yield, and cherries 12 per cent. It appears that the sour cherries were not so severely damaged as the sweet cherries.

League of Nations Very Much Alive.

An American connected with the Secretariat of the League of Nations returning home states:

To one returning from Europe, where all parties, Conservative, Liberal and Socialist, are well content with the present League of Nations as a basis for development, this talk of whether the world shall be more wisely united in a league or in an association is perplexing, as perplexing as it is to hear that the League is dying when one has been at work in the League Secretariat itself and knows that the League is very much alive and increasingly so.

The peoples of Europe think that in the present League they already have an association. The League has two official languages and two titles, French and English. The French name of the League, equally valid with the English one used by a far greater part of the world is "Societe des Nations." Now the proper translation of societe is "association" rather than "league." It cannot be said in this case that the one title is a bad translation of the other. The fact is that the people in England and America who had been working for many years on definite plans for a world organization had found the word "league" handier than the word "association," while the French who had been at work on the same problems had preferred "societe." "Societe" is the better word, we should probably all agree; but its equivalent "association," is not a handy word in English. "The Association of Nations" would be a clumsy expression. Even if it should be adopted officially we should soon be substituting some shorter word. I venture to hazard that it would be "league." It is an old word for the purpose. Even William Penn thought it harmless; for he uses the word in his plan for a world parliament.

The not wholly whimsical thought suggests itself that the real difference between the two lies in the fact that some people think that "league" begins with a "W" and "association" with an "H."

The present organization is not perfect. Surely no one thought it would be. Yet it has two great claims to our respect. Forty-eight powers have signed it, and it works. Of all the many schemes suggested through the centuries it is the first to be translated from paper into action.

By August the new machine provided by the Covenant will have been in action for a year and a half. We find that the cogs fit, the wheels revolve, the machine runs. The first stiffness is over. It is not a perfect machine, but it runs fairly smoothly. It is no more perfect than the first fire engine, which was run by hand. Even that primitive engine was useful for putting out fires. It was also the means to a better engine.

Story of the Silver Dollar.

Coinage of silver dollars has been resumed by the Mint after a lapse of seven years, and the work of replacing 270,000,000 standard silver dollars taken from the Treasury during the war to sell to Great Britain has been begun.

Since late in March, Treasury officials said approximately 20,000,000 silver dollars have been coined. In the same period corresponding amounts of silver certificates were issued and Federal Reserve notes and Treasury certificates securing them were retired. This process, officials said, would probably continue for the next five years until the Treasury's reserve of silver dollars is back to its prewar basis.

The Mint, officials explained, ceased coining silver dollars in 1914, when the supply of metal purchased under the Coinage act was exhausted. Further authority to make the dollars was not forthcoming until 1918, when Congress passed the Pittman act to enable the sale of melted dollars to England for the relief of the silver famine in India.

Under the terms of the act Director of the Mint Baker sold to England 279,000,000 silver dollars, amounting to 208,000,000 ounces of silver, at $1.01 1-2 an ounce plus the market price of the copper content in the dollar. The 1 1-2 cents, Mr. Baker explained, paid for the cost of melting and transportation and the cost of recoinage.

The work of refilling the hole left in the Treasury's vaults, Mr. Baker said, was now well under way, the Mint striking off silver dollars at the rate of about 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 a month.

Since May, 1920, the Mint has bought about 55,000,000 ounces of American silver at $1 an ounce, and will continue to make its purchases at this price until the Treasury's stock is replenished.

Despite the fact that the Pittman act requires the Mint to pay $1 an ounce for its silver, Mr. Baker declared queries are constantly received demanding why the Government pays so much more for its silver than the market price. The price was fixed by the act, he stated, to stabilize the price of silver when there were indications of its reaching unheard of heights during the war. As a result of the Government's action in confining the Treasury's purchases to silver both produced and reduced in this country, the American silver mining industry was protected from overwhelming foreign competition. Mr. Baker said. Because of the price at which silver was sold to England the Government is breaking a little better than even on the transaction, he added.

The inside history of the Pittman act sales, Treasury officials recalled, was what former Secretary Glass described as one of the "romantic incidents of the war."

In 1918 officials said Great Britain's Mesopotamian campaign was threatened by a silver famine in India. Silver, India's monetary standard, was hoarded and hidden by the natives, in the hills. The British Government, under war conditions, could not get the metal to keep up its silver reserve. German propaganda, seeking to drive a wedge between India and the Empire and block England's plans in Mesopotamia, was spreading the report that the Government could not redeem its paper currency. The British Ambassador laid his country's plight before this Government. Director of the Mint Baker suggested that the standard silver dollars lying idle in the Treasury could be used to meet the situation and the certificates outstanding against them replaced by Federal Reserve notes.

Prompt action was needed. The Pittman act was passed in six days. Silver began to move from the sub-treasuries at once. The first shipments were not even molded. The dollars were rolled into little diamond-shaped plates and solid silver trains guarded by secret service agents with sawed-off shotguns, were rushed to the ships waiting to take the metal to India.
